

The North West LHIN invites you to the first of our speaker series:

An Opportunity for Real Change: Improving Health Quality in the North West LHIN

Dr. Ben Chan, Ontario Health Quality Council

Improving the quality of health care is a priority internationally. Recognizing this opportunity for real change, the North West LHIN is offering a session with Dr. Ben Chan—the first presenter in our videoconference speaker series. Dr. Chan brings a wealth of experience in health quality improvement and during this session will provide information on current and upcoming initiatives and concrete examples of how this information can be used by health care partners across the Northwest.

Dr. Ben Chan is the inaugural Chief Executive Officer of the Ontario Health Quality Council, and a leading figure in quality measurement and quality improvement in Canada. As the former CEO of the Health Quality Council (HQC) in Saskatchewan, Dr. Chan led an ambitious agenda to report to the public on quality and implement quality improvement programs to improve chronic disease management; reduce waiting times in cancer care, emergency departments and family practice; and prevent adverse events in ICUs and long-term care facilities. He looks forward to connecting with health service providers across the Northwest!

Wednesday, June 4, 2008
12:00 p.m. to 1:00 p.m. (EST)

Videoconference via Ontario Telemedicine Network (OTN)
